

RAGNAROK ONLINE: THE GREAT COMPENDIUM OF CLASSES

Welcome, adventurer, to the grand archives of Midgard. Within these pages lies the accumulated knowledge of the diverse paths one may walk in our realm. From the humble beginnings of a Novice to the god-like prowess of the Transcendent and Third classes, this tome details the history, characteristics, and traditional vestments of every discipline sanctioned by the Rune-Midgarts Kingdom, the Republic of Schwartzvald, and the Arunafeltz States.

BASE CLASSES

Novice

Every great saga begins with a single step. Novices are the unformed clay of Midgard, possessing boundless potential but lacking specialized training. They rely on basic survival instincts, sheer determination, and a jack-of-all-trades approach to overcome early trials before discovering their true calling.

Male: Wears a simple, sleeveless beige tunic over brown shorts, suited for unrestricted movement. The outfit is completed with basic leather shoes and practical wristbands.

Female: Wears a short-sleeved beige tunic layered over a pristine white shirt, paired with a matching skirt. Accompanied by practical leather boots and a simple headband.

Super Novice

A rare breed of adventurer who refused the call of specialization, choosing instead to master the fundamentals. Through divine favor and sheer stubbornness, Super Novices unlock the secrets of almost every first-tier discipline, wielding a staggering array of skills. They are loved by guardian angels who occasionally bestow miracles upon them in dire moments.

Male: Wears an upgraded, reinforced version of the Novice tunic, featuring subtle gold trims, sturdier leather padding, and an intricately designed belt that signifies their mastery of the basics.

Female: Dons a refined Novice uniform with an expanded white blouse, elegantly tailored skirts with reinforced stitching, and subtle magical runes woven into the hem for extra protection.

1ST JOB CLASS

Swordman

Trained in the maritime city of Izlude, Swordmen are the steadfast vanguard of any party. They channel their inner fortitude to endure devastating blows and unleash powerful, straightforward strikes. Their training emphasizes physical endurance, iron will, and the unwavering defense of their comrades.

Male: Wears a sturdy, sleeveless steel breastplate over a functional brown undershirt, paired with loose-fitting trousers and heavy iron-toed boots designed for battlefield stability.

Female: Shares the robust steel breastplate, tailored for mobility, paired with a reinforced leather skirt, knee-high armored boots, and a practical headband to keep hair out of the eyes during combat.

Mage

Scholars of the arcane arts from the magical city of Geffen. Mages command the raw elemental forces of the world—fire, water, wind, and earth. While their physical frames are fragile, their minds are forged in grueling study, allowing them to invoke devastating spells that can turn the tide of any skirmish.

Male: Wears a deep violet, ankle-length robe adorned with subtle arcane embroidery at the cuffs, cinched with a wide leather belt holding reagent pouches. A high collar framing the face completes the scholarly look.

Female: Dons a stylish violet and white dress that balances elegance with the practical needs of spellcasting. The outfit features a short, flared skirt, long flared sleeves, and a distinctive pointed witch's hat.

Archer

Hailing from the lush forests of Payon, Archers are masters of ranged combat and woodland survival. They possess eyes as sharp as eagles and an unparalleled mastery of the bow. They strike from afar, using elemental arrows to exploit enemy weaknesses before the foe even realizes they are under attack.

Male: Wears a practical, forest-green leather vest over a lightweight linen shirt, fitted trousers, and knee-high leather boots. A quiver is slung firmly across the back.

Female: Wears a nimble, sleeveless green and white tunic with a short, pleated skirt designed for maximum agility. Forearm bracers protect from bowstring snap, and thigh-high boots provide protection in dense underbrush.

Merchant

The lifeblood of Midgard's economy, trained in the bustling desert city of Alberta. Merchants are not merely traders; they view commerce as a battlefield. Armed with massive carts and the power of cold, hard Zeny, they bludgeon foes with sheer wealth and possess unique skills to appraise and transport vast hoards of loot.

Male: Wears a durable beige and brown apron over a plain white shirt, heavily loaded with pouches, belts, and coin purses. Loose trousers and sturdy boots complete the trader's ensemble.

Female: Wears a vibrant yellow and white dress with puffed sleeves, paired with an apron featuring multiple pockets for ledgers and Zeny. A practical bandana keeps their hair secure during long travels.

Thief

Emerging from the shadowy depths of Morroc's underworld, Thieves rely on blinding speed, evasion, and deception. They strike from the shadows with poisoned daggers and relieve monsters of their valuables mid-combat. To a Thief, a fair fight is a foolish fight.

Male: Wears tight-fitting, dark purple and black leather armor that makes no sound. Features include a sleeveless tunic, matching dark trousers, and a mask or scarf to conceal identity.

Female: Dons a sleek, form-fitting dark purple rogue's outfit with strategic cuts for flexibility. It includes a halter-style top, dark shorts, thigh-high dark boots, and arm wraps for concealed blades.

Acolyte

Devout servants of the divine, ordained in the grand Prontera Sanctuary. Acolytes channel holy magic to heal wounds, cure afflictions, and bolster the spirits of their allies. Armed with maces and unwavering faith, they also possess the power to banish the undead and demonic entities back to the abyss.

Male: Wears a pristine white cassock with green trim, symbolizing purity and growth. The robe falls to the ankles, worn over simple leather sandals, with a rosary prominently displayed.

Female: Wears a modest, calf-length white dress accented with green bands and a matching short capelet over the shoulders. A neat white cap covers the head, reflecting their holy vows.

2-1 JOB CLASS

Knight

The elite cavalry of the Prontera Chivalry. Knights have mastered the art of mounted combat atop the majestic Peco Peco. They are the ultimate frontline juggernauts, capable of wielding massive two-handed swords or a spear and shield, breaking enemy lines with charging attacks and unmatched physical resilience.

Male: Wears full plate armor consisting of a silver breastplate with heavy shoulder guards, worn over chainmail. A thick red cape flows from the shoulders, symbolizing their noble duty.

Female: Shares the silver plate armor design, modified for a sleeker profile. The armor includes an armored skirt over chainmail leggings, retaining the striking red cape and heavy pauldrons.

Wizard

Mages who have peered into the deepest abysses of magical theory. Wizards do not merely control elements; they conjure localized natural disasters. From summoning meteors from the heavens to freezing entire battlefields in absolute zero, their area-of-effect destruction is unparalleled in Midgard.

Male: Wears an ornate, long blue and purple robe adorned with golden runes. The robes are heavy and regal, worn with high leather boots and an imposing pointed hat draped with a magical veil.

Female: Wears an elegant, asymmetrical blue dress with a high slit, adorned with intricate gold filigree. A large, stylized wizard's hat with gold accents and a long, flowing cape completes the majestic look.

Hunter

Elite trackers who have formed a lifelong bond with the majestic Falcons of the Payon forests. Hunters blend devastating archery with the coordinated aerial assaults of their avian companions. They also excel in setting deadly traps, turning any terrain into a lethal gauntlet for their prey.

Male: Wears a rugged, dark brown and green leather jerkin with a heavy belt holding trapping gear. An intricate green bandana and thick leather gauntlets signify their veteran status in the wild.

Female: Dons a fitted dark green vest and shorts, optimized for maximum mobility in the jungle canopy. Armored leather thigh-guards and a distinctive green cap complete the elite tracker aesthetic.

Blacksmith

The undisputed masters of the forge. Blacksmiths transcend mere trading; they create the legendary weapons that shape the fate of kingdoms. In combat, they wield axes and maces with shattering force, utilizing their knowledge of weapon anatomy to maximize damage and even weaponizing their vast wealth in battle.

Male: Wears a heavy, fire-resistant leather apron over a sturdy brown shirt. Their muscular arms are bare to withstand the forge's heat, protected only by thick leather work gloves and protective goggles on their forehead.

Female: Wears a stylish yet practical brown and white halter top paired with a short leather apron. Accompanied by heavy work boots, thick gloves, and a protective bandana to keep sweat and sparks at bay.

Assassin

Members of the secretive Guillotine Cross guild, hidden in the shifting sands of the Morroc desert. Assassins have discarded shields entirely in favor of wielding deadly weapons in both hands. Masters of stealth and lethal poisons, they strike the vital points of their enemies, dealing rapid, critical damage before fading back into the shadows.

Male: Wears stealthy, dark grey and black leather armor designed to muffle sound, featuring a masked lower face, spiked shoulder pads, and strapped sheaths for twin katars or daggers.

Female: Wears a deadly, form-fitting black leather suit with a halter top and thigh-high boots, accented with purple fabrics. Arm wraps and a dark face mask ensure they remain unseen in the night.

Priest

Acolytes who have endured the arduous pilgrimage to become full-fledged emissaries of the divine. Priests possess advanced restorative magic and powerful defensive wards. They are the spiritual backbone of any grand adventure, capable of resurrecting the fallen, blessing allies with immense power, and purifying the corrupted lands.

Male: Wears an immaculate, long white robe detailed with intricate blue and gold crosses. A high collar and a stole draped around the neck signify their high rank within the Prontera Church.

Female: Dons a sweeping, full-length white dress accented with gold trim and large cross motifs. A flowing white and blue capelet and a ceremonial headdress project an aura of divine grace.

2-2 JOB CLASS

Crusader

Holy warriors who merge the physical prowess of a Swordman with the divine faith of the Acolyte. Crusaders are the impenetrable shields of the Church, specializing in defensive arts and divine retribution. They can wield Grand Cross, sacrificing their own vitality to summon a devastating pillar of holy light.

Male: Wears heavy, bright silver full plate armor featuring a prominent cross motif on the chest plate. The set includes a stark white tabard, heavy pauldrons, and is often paired with an imposing shield.

Female: Shares the massive silver upper plate armor and prominent holy cross motif. The armor transitions into a reinforced, armored white skirt, completed with heavy silver sabatons and gauntlets.

Sage

Academics from the floating city of Juno who approach magic through rigorous scientific inquiry rather than raw elemental channeling. Sages excel at bending the rules of magic—enchancing allies' weapons with elements, casting spells while moving, and nullifying enemy magic with their absolute mastery over the world's elemental laws.

Male: Wears a distinguished, academic red coat over a formal white shirt and black cravat. The ensemble looks more suited for a high-society lecture hall than a battlefield, carrying a large spellbook.

Female: Wears an elegant, dark red dress with a high collar and white ruffled accents. A short cape and knee-high boots give off a sophisticated, scholarly appearance.

Bard

Wandering minstrels who understand that music is the true universal language, capable of manipulating the very fabric of reality. Using lutes and songs imbued with magic, Bards inspire allies to incredible feats of speed and strength, or weave chilling melodies that freeze enemies in their tracks. (Note: This path is exclusively walked by men).

Male: Wears a flamboyant, forest-green and yellow minstrel's outfit, complete with a feathered cap, puffy slashed sleeves, and a loose tunic designed to draw the eye of every tavern patron.

Female: N/A - The path of the Bard is intrinsically linked to the male spirit; females walk the counterpart path of the Dancer.

Dancer

Artists of the stage from the vibrant city of Comodo. Dancers view the battlefield as their ultimate performance. Their mesmerizing movements and rhythmic strikes disorient foes and drastically enhance the combat capabilities of their allies. When paired with a Bard, their ensemble performances can alter the course of war. (Note: This path is exclusively walked by women).

Male: N/A - The path of the Dancer is intrinsically linked to the female spirit; males walk the counterpart path of the Bard.

Female: Wears a highly revealing, exotic dancer's outfit consisting of a jeweled red bralette, a flowing sheer silk skirt with high slits, and intricate ankle bells that chime with every step.

Alchemist

Eccentric scientists from Al De Baran who blend merchant cunning with arcane biology. Alchemists brew potent potions to heal or harm, synthesize explosive acids to dissolve enemy armor, and most notably, cultivate artificial lifeforms known as Homunculi to fight loyally by their side.

Male: Wears a practical, heavy leather coat filled with internal pockets for vials and ingredients, worn over a protective apron. Thick gloves and protective goggles strapped to the head complete the look.

Female: Wears a knee-length, light-colored lab coat over a neat dress, paired with thick protective boots and heavy gloves. The outfit is tailored for long hours in a volatile laboratory.

Rogue

Cunning survivalists and opportunistic fighters who operate outside the rigid rules of the Thieves Guild. Rogues are masters of dirty tactics: they strip enemies of their armor mid-combat, wield swords and bows with equal proficiency, and can even copy the skills of other classes to turn their enemies' strengths against them.

Male: Wears a rugged, dark brown leather vest left open to allow freedom of movement, paired with a red bandana, baggy trousers, and an assortment of hidden sheaths for concealed weapons.

Female: Wears a bold, tight-fitting black and red leather outfit with a halter top and short shorts. A signature bandana and multiple utility belts highlight their rebellious and practical nature.

Monk

Acolytes who abandoned the safe confines of the church to forge their bodies into living weapons at the St. Capitolina Abbey. Monks combine divine spirit with lethal martial arts. By manipulating their internal energy (Spirit Spheres), they unleash devastating combo attacks, culminating in the legendary, one-hit execution technique: Asura Strike.

Male: Wears a sleeveless, loose-fitting martial artist's uniform in shades of brown and yellow. The chest is exposed, and arms are heavily wrapped in bandages for close-quarters striking.

Female: Dons a vibrant yellow and brown martial arts dress with high slits for kicking mobility. The legs are clad in dark tights, and the forearms are wrapped in protective striking tape.

TRANSCENDENT 2-1 JOB CLASS

Lord Knight

Knights who have broken past their mortal limits, reaching the pinnacle of martial prowess. Lord Knights possess a fearsome aura that terrifies foes. They can intentionally send themselves into a berserk frenzy, trading all their defense for apocalyptic destructive power and blinding attack speed.

Male: Wears magnificent, heavy dark red and silver plate armor. The chest piece is intricately forged, flanked by massive, spiked red pauldrons and a sweeping maroon cape of finest silk.

Female: Shares the imposing dark red and silver aesthetic with massive spiked pauldrons. The lower half features a regal, heavy armored skirt layered over dark steel leggings.

High Wizard

Masters of the arcane who have communed with the elemental spirits of the highest order. High Wizards cast magic of such magnitude that it bends the very earth and sky to their will. Their understanding of magic allows them to amplify their own spellcasting power dramatically, unleashing devastation without equal.

Male: Wears an opulent, dark crimson and gold robe with layers of rich fabric. A majestic, wide-brimmed red hat and golden arcane accessories symbolize their absolute mastery over magic.

Female: Dons a stunning, highly detailed crimson dress with gold filigree and floating arcane sashes. A beautiful, grand red witch's hat completes an ensemble radiating sheer magical authority.

Sniper

Hunters whose senses have transcended normal human limits, becoming one with the spirit of the wild. Snipers shoot with a deadly precision that borders on the supernatural, their arrows guided by an inner focus that pierces the strongest armor and strikes down prey from impossible distances.

Male: Wears a streamlined, deep green and black combat suit trimmed with gold. The outfit is tight-fitting for zero drag, featuring an advanced, tactical quiver and sleek leather boots.

Female: Wears an aerodynamic, sleek dark green and gold combat outfit. It features a fitted bodice and short skirt designed for absolute freedom of movement, with tactical arm guards for rapid firing.

Master Smith

The legendary artisans whose very souls burn as hot as their forges. Master Smiths understand metal on a molecular level, allowing them to upgrade weapons past their absolute limits. In combat, they enter a trance of mechanized destruction, crushing foes with heavy weaponry and localized gravity manipulation.

Male: Wears a heavy-duty, dark brown leather coat heavily reinforced with steel plating. A massive, mastercrafted belt and intricate mechanical goggles signify their elite artisan status.

Female: Dons a refined, dark brown leather artisan's outfit with steel-reinforced corsetry and a flared skirt. Thick, protective arm gauntlets and custom-forged goggles complete the legendary smith aesthetic.

Assassin Cross

The executioners of the executioners. An Assassin Cross is a myth whispered in the shadows, a specter of death that leaves no trace. They have mastered the deadliest of all poisons, coating their blades in venoms so potent they dissolve enemies from the inside out in mere seconds.

Male: Wears an intimidating, skintight dark maroon and black suit of stealth armor. Features wicked spiked arm guards, a concealing neck wrap, and an aura of palpable menace.

Female: Wears a striking, asymmetrical dark maroon leather outfit that maximizes agility. Features deadly spiked gauntlets, thigh-high bladed boots, and an alluring yet lethal silhouette.

High Priest

The spiritual leaders of Prontera, touched directly by the grace of Odin. High Priests radiate an aura of absolute sanctuary. Their protective blessings can shield entire armies from harm, and their connection to the divine allows them to commune with the heavens to summon ultimate restorative miracles.

Male: Wears an incredibly ornate, multi-layered white and red pontifical robe. The vestments are adorned with massive golden crosses and holy scriptures woven directly into the fabric.

Female: Dons an exquisite, flowing white and red ceremonial dress, featuring a dramatic high collar, elaborate gold cross embellishments, and a majestic, angelic headdress.

TRANSCENDENT 2-2 JOB CLASS

Paladin

The ultimate champions of righteousness, chosen by the heavens to bear the weight of the world's sins. Paladins are the absolute pinnacle of defense, capable of intercepting damage meant for their allies and returning it tenfold with holy retribution. Their souls burn with a purifying light that vanquishes all darkness.

Male: Wears an awe-inspiring, bulky white and gold plate armor with a glowing cross motif. Features majestic, wing-like pauldrons and a grand white cape that commands reverence.

Female: Shares the divine white and gold plate armor, beautifully contoured and featuring the same angelic, wing-like shoulder guards. The lower armor is a regal, heavily plated white skirt.

Scholar

Sages who have unlocked the deepest secrets of magical theory, transcending the need for spellbooks. Scholars manipulate the very flow of mana itself. They can drain an opponent's magical energy, grant it to allies, and cast spells with terrifying swiftness, acting as the ultimate anti-magic tactical weapon.

Male: Wears a sophisticated, dark red and black scholarly coat with gold trim, featuring an elegant, asymmetrical cut and high collar. The look is completed with spectacles and an air of absolute intellect.

Female: Dons a highly fashionable, dark red dress with elaborate black lace and gold accents. The elegant, intelligent aesthetic is complemented by a short capelet and stylish knee-high boots.

Minstrel

Bards whose melodies have reached a transcendent resonance, capable of swaying the hearts of gods and monsters alike. A Minstrel's song can alter the very laws of physics on the battlefield, dictating the tempo of war with an effortless strum of their divine instrument. (Male exclusive).

Male: Wears an extravagant, vibrant red and gold performer's outfit. It features an ornate, feathered cavalier hat, a ruffled shirt, and a tailored coat designed to be the absolute center of attention.

Female: N/A - This path is exclusive to males.

Gypsy

Dancers whose art has become a sublime, almost supernatural force. A Gypsy's dance weaves enchantments so profound they can control the minds of their enemies, plunging them into despair or draining their life force. Their beauty and lethal grace are matched only by their devastating impact on enemy morale. (Female exclusive).

Male: N/A - This path is exclusive to females.

Female: Wears a breathtakingly alluring, exotic dark red and gold two-piece outfit adorned with copious amounts of jewelry, intricate veils, and a stunning tiara, designed to completely captivate the audience.

Biochemist

Alchemists who have cracked the genetic code of life itself. Biochemists are terrifying geniuses who concoct acidic bombs that melt through the thickest dragon scales in seconds. Their Homunculi are evolved into monstrously powerful forms, blurring the line between science and playing god.

Male: Wears an intricate, tailored dark green and gold trench coat heavily loaded with bandoliers of specialized explosive vials. Professional boots and advanced tactical goggles complete the look.

Female: Dons a smart, dark green dress overlaid with a protective, stylized alchemical coat. Features include intricate gold buttons, vial holsters on the thighs, and a professional, sharp aesthetic.

Stalker

Rogues who have perfected the art of non-existence. Stalkers are the phantoms of the battlefield; they can completely erase their presence, slipping through absolute defenses unnoticed. They are the ultimate psychological warriors, stripping enemies of their weapons, armor, and very will to fight before delivering the killing blow.

Male: Wears an incredibly sleek, skin-tight dark purple combat suit with black leather plating. Features a full head-wrap and lower face mask, leaving only the eyes visible to their terrified prey.

Female: Wears a stealthy, form-fitting dark purple bodysuit with strategic cutouts and black leather harness straps. A face-concealing bandana and deadly thigh-holsters ensure absolute lethality.

Champion

Monks who have achieved absolute spiritual enlightenment, forging their bodies and souls into a singular, indestructible weapon. Champions possess a monstrous pool of internal energy, allowing them to chain martial arts combos endlessly and execute the legendary Guillotine Fist with world-shattering force.

Male: Wears a minimalist, dark red and gold martial arts uniform, leaving the heavily muscled upper body completely bare save for intricate magical tattoos and heavy arm bracers.

Female: Dons a fiercely beautiful, dark red and black halter-style martial arts dress with deep gold trim. Accompanied by heavily wrapped forearms and a look of absolute, terrifying serenity.

3-1 JOB CLASS

Rune Knight

The evolutionary pinnacle of the Knight class. Rune Knights have abandoned traditional defensive magic, instead mastering the ancient, forbidden art of Rune Crafting. By engraving magical stones, they unleash explosive magical attacks and buff themselves to god-like levels, charging into battle atop fearsome Ferus dragons.

Male: Wears majestic, heavy gold and dark metal plate armor. The chestplate is adorned with glowing ancient runes, complemented by a regal red cape and an imposing, dragon-visaged helm.

Female: Shares the intricate gold and dark metal plate armor, tailored for an elegant yet imposing silhouette. Features a flowing red cape and a magnificent runic tiara or winged headpiece.

Warlock

High Wizards who have peered beyond the elemental planes, tapping into volatile dimensional magic. Warlocks weave multiple elements into terrifying, screen-clearing singularities. They are masters of absolute destruction, capable of reading magical grimoires to instantly unleash stored catastrophic spells.

Male: Wears an intricate, long black coat with vivid red and gold trimmings. A dark, high-collared shirt and an impressive, stylized dark witch's hat project an aura of supreme arcane authority.

Female: Dons an incredibly elaborate, dark gothic-lolita inspired dress in black and crimson. Features extensive ruffles, thigh-high stockings, and an enormous, gravity-defying dark witch's hat.

Ranger

The ultimate survivalists who have conquered the harshest environments of Midgard. Rangers mount fierce Wargs into battle, moving with blinding speed. Their traps are now complex, devastating machinations of war, and their arrows fly with such ferocious velocity they resemble falling stars.

Male: Wears a highly tactical, camouflaged dark green and brown leather uniform with asymmetrical shoulder plating. Features an advanced mechanical quiver and thick wilderness boots.

Female: Wears a sleek, tactical green and brown outfit with a short skirt and thigh-high armored boots. Features complex harness straps for traps and arrows, designed for peak mobility atop a Warg.

Mechanic

Master Smiths who have embraced the absolute cutting edge of Schwartzvald technology. Mechanics construct massive, pilotable Magitek suits (Mado Gear), turning themselves into literal walking tanks. Armed with flamethrowers, pilebunkers, and vulcan cannons, they bring the horrific efficiency of industrial warfare to the battlefield.

Male: When unpiloted, wears a heavy-duty, grease-stained dark coverall with bright yellow accents, heavy utility belts, and thick work boots. Often sports a welding mask or advanced visor.

Female: Wears a stylized, practical yellow and black mechanic's overall worn casually half-down, paired with a fitted black top. Thick protective gloves and a tool-laden belt complete the look.

Guillotine Cross

The apex predators of the underworld. A Guillotine Cross is a nightmare incarnate, capable of producing toxins so vile they bypass all known immunities. They move faster than the eye can track, unleashing rapid, swirling blades of death that obliterate entire groups of enemies in a storm of blood.

Male: Wears an intimidating, heavily armored black and dark purple stealth suit covered in wicked blades and spikes. A menacing lower-face mask and glowing, venomous accents highlight their lethal nature.

Female: Dons a terrifyingly beautiful, skin-tight black and purple assassin's suit with asymmetrical blade plating. Features spiked high-heels, deadly arm gauntlets, and an aura of absolute dark majesty.

Arch Bishop

The highest echelon of the church, acting as the direct voice of the gods. Arch Bishops have transcended single-target miracles, now capable of casting massive, holy sanctuary spells that heal and protect entire legions at once. Their holy light is so bright it instantly incinerates the forces of darkness.

Male: Wears an incredibly grand, flowing white and gold ceremonial robe with an expansive cape. The outfit is laden with heavy golden cross ornaments and a majestic mitre, radiating divine power.

Female: Wears a breathtaking, elegant white and gold dress with expansive, angel-like sleeves. Features a beautiful sheer veil, an ornate golden tiara, and an aura of pure, motherly divinity.

3-2 JOB CLASS

Royal Guard

The elite protectors of the Rune-Midgarts crown. Royal Guards are an impenetrable phalanx, their defensive techniques honed to absolute perfection. Bound by unbreakable oaths, they use their massive shields not just to block, but to unleash devastating shockwaves, heavily turning the momentum of any siege.

Male: Wears a majestic, heavy silver and blue plate armor adorned with the royal crest. Features a grand white cape, an ornate feathered helm, and an air of absolute, unshakeable nobility.

Female: Shares the grand silver and blue royal plate armor, featuring elegant but incredibly thick defensive plating. A flowing white cape and a beautiful silver winged headpiece complete the regal aesthetic.

Sorcerer

Scholars who have learned to subjugate the elemental spirits themselves. Sorcerers command entities of fire, water, wind, and earth to fight alongside them. They cast terrifying area-of-effect spells while manipulating the very spiritual energy of the battlefield, turning the tide with unmatched tactical supremacy.

Male: Wears an elegant, asymmetrical green and gold long coat over a sophisticated dark shirt. The ensemble is adorned with arcane focal gems and an intricately designed spiritual grimoire.

Female: Dons a highly intricate, flowing green and white dress with long, split sleeves and gold magical accents. Features a beautiful golden headpiece and an aura of calm, calculating intelligence.

Maestro

Minstrels who have unlocked the deepest secrets of harmonics, commanding the Voice of God. A Maestro's symphony can rewrite the rules of reality, bringing ruin to their foes or bestowing absolute invincibility upon their allies. Their music is an unstoppable force of nature. (Male exclusive).

Male: Wears a highly sophisticated, aristocratic dark tailcoat with an elaborate white cravat and gold trimmings. A sleek top hat and an aura of dramatic theatricality make them the undeniable star of the battlefield.

Female: N/A - This path is exclusive to males.

Wanderer

Gypsies whose dance has achieved perfect synchronization with the rhythm of the cosmos. A Wanderer's performance is breathtakingly beautiful and hopelessly lethal. Their elegant movements cast devastating acoustic and physical waves, reducing heavily armored foes to dust while mesmerizing survivors. (Female exclusive).

Male: N/A - This path is exclusive to females.

Female: Wears an absolutely stunning, elegant black and white evening gown with a high slit, heavily accented with gold and floral motifs. An intricate, feathered headpiece adds to their captivating, swan-like grace.

Geneticist

Biochemists who have completely disregarded ethical boundaries in the pursuit of absolute biological perfection. Geneticists cultivate demonic plant life, hurl carts full of high-explosives with terrifying strength, and unleash highly evolved, terrifying Homunculus mutations that decimate the battlefield.

Male: Wears a sharp, dark brown and gold scientist's coat heavily modified with reinforced leather harnesses holding massive explosive payloads. A sleek, analytical visor hides a calculating, mad genius.

Female: Dons a stylish, dark brown and gold steampunk-inspired lab outfit. Features a short skirt, thigh-high boots with potion holsters, and a chic cap paired with protective goggles.

Shadow Chaser

Stalkers who view deceit as a high art form. Shadow Chasers use magical paint to draw traps and deceptive illusions directly onto the battlefield. They can perfectly duplicate the ultimate skills of other classes, copy the appearance of monsters, and vanish into literal thin air, leaving only chaos in their wake.

Male: Wears a wildly chaotic but stylish black and colorful outfit, featuring asymmetric armor, a ragged dark cape, and multiple belts holding magical paints and brushes. A dark mask obscures their identity.

Female: Wears a bold, form-fitting black outfit with vibrant, colorful accents and a torn skirt. Features intricate body paint, a stylish rogue's cap, and an aura of unpredictable, dangerous mischief.

Sura

Champions who have embraced the darkness within to push their physical limits beyond sanity. Suras walk the path of the demon, using their own health to fuel their spirit spheres. They unleash impossibly fast, bone-shattering combos and massive area-of-effect detonations, becoming a one-man army of unparalleled destruction.

Male: Wears an incredibly imposing, dark black and red martial arts uniform, chest entirely exposed to reveal complex, glowing spirit tattoos. Heavy, spiked arm and leg guards signify their brutal fighting style.

Female: Dons a fierce, dark red and black martial arts two-piece outfit with extensive body wraps. Intricate glowing tattoos cover their skin, radiating a terrifying, dark spiritual energy.

1ST EXTENDED CLASS

Taekwon Boy/Girl

Fierce martial artists from the eastern lands who shun all weaponry, believing the human body is the ultimate instrument of war. Taekwons rely entirely on devastating kicking techniques and stances, drawing power from the alignment of the stars and their unyielding fighting spirit.

Male: Wears a simple, loose-fitting white and blue traditional martial arts dobok (uniform) with a thick belt, designed for absolute freedom of leg movement. Feet are bare or lightly wrapped.

Female: Wears a matching white and blue traditional martial arts dobok, featuring a neatly tied belt and hair tightly secured to prevent interference during lightning-fast spinning kicks.

Ninja

Shadow warriors from the secretive clans of Amatsu. Ninjas are masters of ninjutsu, capable of weaving hand seals to cast powerful elemental magic, throwing shurikens and kunais with deadly accuracy, and utilizing absolute evasion techniques like the Cicada Skin Shed to become virtually untouchable.

Male: Wears a traditional, dark purple and black shinobi shozoku (ninja suit) with a full hood and face mask, leaving only the eyes visible. Forearm guards and a waist sash hold multiple concealed weapons.

Female: Wears a stylized, dark purple and black kunoichi outfit with fishnet mesh armor accents. Features a short skirt for mobility, arm warmers, and a deadly, silent grace.

Gunslinger

Rebellious sharpshooters from the industrial city of Einbroch who rejected traditional magic and blades in favor of cold, hard steel and gunpowder. Gunslingers wield a vast arsenal of firearms—from rapid-firing pistols to devastating rocket launchers—unleashing a storm of bullets to decimate their foes.

Male: Wears a rugged, dark brown leather trench coat over a white shirt, paired with heavy boots and a classic cowboy hat. The outfit is heavily laden with bandoliers and custom holsters.

Female: Dons a stylish, dark brown leather corset top and short shorts, worn under a long, open duster coat. A signature wide-brimmed hat and twin thigh-holsters complete the gunslinger aesthetic.

2ND EXTENDED CLASS

Taekwon Master

Taekwons who have aligned their souls with the celestial bodies. Taekwon Masters (also known as Star Gladiators) draw their power directly from the Sun, Moon, and Stars. By designating specific maps and monsters to their celestial alignments, they achieve terrifying, unparalleled damage output in their chosen domains.

Male: Wears a mystical, dark blue and gold martial arts uniform, the chest exposed and adorned with celestial tattoos. A magical, glowing tome floats permanently at their side.

Female: Wears a beautiful, dark blue and gold traditional martial dress with celestial motifs. Intricate arm wraps and a floating, glowing star-tome emphasize their deep cosmic connection.

Soul Linker

Taekwons who chose the path of spiritual mediumship over martial combat. Soul Linkers can summon the spirits of legendary heroes from the past, fusing them with their allies to unlock incredible, class-specific powers. They are the ultimate support class, manipulating the very souls of the living and the dead.

Male: Wears a flowing, ethereal white and red shamanistic robe adorned with prayer beads and mystical charms. Their eyes glow with a soft, spiritual light, hinting at their connection to the afterlife.

Female: Dons a beautiful, traditional red and white miko (shrine maiden) inspired dress with long, flowing sleeves. Carries a mystical staff and exudes an aura of profound, otherworldly serenity.

Kagerou

The shadow masters of the Amatsu ninja clans. A Kagerou has perfected the art of dual-wielding daggers and weaving complex elemental charms. They can manipulate their enemies' shadows, distorting reality to render themselves immortal for brief periods and striking with the force of an exploding volcano. (Male exclusive).

Male: Wears an incredibly detailed, dark grey and crimson advanced shinobi suit with asymmetrical armor plating. A menacing oni (demon) half-mask and a long, flowing dark scarf complete the legendary assassin look.

Female: N/A - The title of Kagerou is bestowed only upon male shadow masters; females become Oboro.

Oboro

The illusionary mistresses of the Amatsu ninja clans. An Oboro specializes in mind-bending genjutsu and terrifying magical bursts. They dance through the battlefield like petals in the wind, reflecting damage back at attackers and creating explosive elemental clones that obliterate their foes. (Female exclusive).

Male: N/A - The title of Oboro is bestowed only upon female shadow mistresses; males become Kagerou.

Female: Wears a breathtakingly gorgeous, dark crimson and purple highly stylized kunoichi dress with intricate floral and moon motifs. Features a deep v-neck, heavily armored thigh-highs, and a bewitching aura.

Rebel

Gunslingers who have fully embraced the chaotic fires of revolution. Rebels have mastered heavy, military-grade weaponry. They lay waste to battlefields using anti-materiel rifles, massive Gatling guns, and explosive shotguns, turning the air itself into a lead-filled hellscape that no armor can withstand.

Male: Wears a heavy, military-grade black tactical long coat over bulletproof body armor. Features rugged combat boots, a scarred eye-patch or tactical visor, and an aura of battle-hardened grit.

Female: Dons a sleek, heavily reinforced black tactical outfit with a stylized open coat and dark corset. Features an eyepatch, complex ammunition bandoliers, and an aura of merciless, cold precision.